

Online Professional Development for Arabic Teachers

Online Education courses 2014/2015

Fall session: October 6th TO November 17th 2014

Start Right!

Building Language Foundations

Vocabulary

Students learn vocabulary before they start producing language, any language! Correct?!

What vocabulary do students learn first? When can you expect your students to produce language? Why is vocabulary retention a challenge? Can you make learning vocabulary a fun and productive experience? How many words do your students need to know to be considered Arabic speakers? Is the language all about vocabulary learning?!

Join our fall session and give your students the vocabulary skills they need to Start Right!

- Reach and teach your students based on their needs and interest
- Teach vocabulary through context: storytelling, cooking, art, songs, etc...
- Use technology to create a more interesting learning experience
- Make learning and teaching more exciting and educational
- Bring best practices alive in your classroom

This interactive course provides instructors with the latest research, strategies and techniques designed for students of various ages and proficiency levels.

Spend about 90 minutes per week, listening to lectures, watching the best teaching strategies in a real classroom setting, taking quizzes and networking with experts and colleagues in the US and worldwide!
